Late Night Showing A Chance to Experience “Brother’s Keeper”

ABILENE, TX— Tables at the “Brother’s Keeper” World Premiere are sold out, but fans still can see the director’s cut of the movie at a 9 p.m. showing at the Abilene Convention Center March 30. Tickets are $15 per person, and they can be purchased online via Eventbrite.

“Brother’s Keeper” tells the story of the on- and off-field code of honor lived by the 2009 Abilene High Eagles’ state championship team as told in a book written by locals Chad Mitchell and Al Pickett. The cast includes Laurence Fishburne, Milo Gibson, Abigail Hawk, Glenn Morshower, Eddie George, Noel Gugliemi, Eric Martinez. Many of the actors already have confirmed their attendance.

Fans can check in for the casual 9 p.m. movie starting at 8:30 p.m. at the lower concourse doors on the north side of the Convention Center; seats are not assigned and will be allotted first-come, first serve. Moviegoers are encouraged dress as an Abilene Eagle fan for the evening, wearing black and gold casual attire. No outside food or drinks are allowed in the auditorium.

Winter State Entertainment will release the full-length feature film nationwide next fall. Subsequent movie premieres will take place in Dallas, New York City, Chicago, Minneapolis and Los Angeles later in the year.

Winter State has added another Abilene-based film to its list of projects. A fictional oil-field comedy set in the city is currently in development. Watch for news about that in the future.
